

Read the survey report & charts.

Write an article which interprets and explains the data and what it means, why that is important, and how it can affect your audience. Take a definitive stand, and suggest real-world solutions to the problems described. Use at least two outside sources and cite them.